

Gober Party House

1516 West Avenue H

Built in 1946, the structure was made of tile with white stucco on the outside and plaster walls on the inside. Built as a community youth center complete with a game room, the center was commonly called "Santa Fe Park" because of its close proximity to Santa Fe Hospital. The building was later officially named after Dr. O.F. Gober, a chief surgeon at Santa Fe Hospital. Today, the building is available for event rentals.
